THE BUILDING OF MENARD COUNTY'S HONOR BOOK AND RECORD.

If on the pages within some criticism is voiced regarding the work of the writers and compilers of this book, we crave the leniency of a gracious public in this regard.

It has been our aim to build a complete book, containing the records and photographs of all the men of Menard County who entered the service, and we have spared no time or energy to bring about this desired end.

Our extensive notification work has reached every home in the county; it has been distributed in impartial fairness between the various news sheets; and local agents dotted all over the county and in each community center have made it their business to co-operate with us in the matter of explaining the HONOR BOOK.

The splendid telephone system over this county has been brought to bear on the delinquent biographies and photographies in a manner that could scarcely leave any soldiers or sailors home in ignorance of the HONOR BOOK and its mission.

All available lists in the county of men who have entered the service have been exhausted, adding from time to time names not found on any of these lists as they have come to us directly from interested friends. These we have reached by either advertising, telephone, telegraph or correspondence, many of them reaching the extreme corner of the United States.

The HONOR BOOK and RECORD will therefore be found more perfect than any text now in existence.

FOREWORD

It is our desire and we sincerely hope that this volume shall find appreciation in the hearts of its readers. Dedicated is this token of love and homage to Menard County's heroes of nineteen hundred and seventeen and nineteen hundred and eighteen whose noble defense of home and loved ones inspire the love and gratitude too sincere and profound to be coined in words and phrases.

From field, industry, shop, and a sheltered home the youth of Menard County has answered America's call to arms.

Such is Americanism! Menard County! Brave Menard! She has played her heroic part in the grim and ghastly game of war.

THE MAGIC WORDS "COMPANY C."

A phrase we speak tenderly. The magic words "Company C!" On the street during hostilities "Company C" mentioned has proved the magnet, drawing a crowd about the speaker, listeners eager for the bit of information on the welfare of the Company on whose activities the eyes of the whole community were centered.

Not that the stories of the "Company C" boys have not been repeated over and over again with variations in the stories in many of our county's fighting men; not that we are forgetful of the heroes of other battle fronts and other divisions; but because so many of the boys were in "Company C" and together faced the horrors of modern warfare, suffering the loss of comrades on the field of battle, most of them mere lads, many leaving high school courses unfinished to lay their lives on the altar for their country's need.

"Company C" has made a name for itself in the military annals of history—a name that has made General Pershing, in naming over the honored divisions, add: "and the 33rd Division, 124th Machine Gun Battalion, Company C."

Just is the pride in which we hold the men from the county that went to make make up the illustrious "Company C."

They are coming back! Two years after their debut into the military world we no doubt will find the boyishness gone and in its place the rigor and determination of manhood—a manhood crowned with victory and success, bought at the expense of the precious lives of comrades and the battle scars of war.

MENARD'S ACHIEVEMENTS

At home all know the achievements of Menard County in the great war drives that have gone to finance the victorious men of the nation.

While our boys were mobilizing and fighting Menard has never fallen short of doing her duty. She has satisfied each quota mapped out for her by the State and National Committees, meeting every call for the support of our soldiers, and in many instances has more than met the obligation, seemingly unwilling to stop the giving where the comfort and welfare of the boys were concerned.

LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG SPEECH.

(Address at the dedication of Gettysburg Cemetery, Nov. 19, 1863.)

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any other nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Elmer Kincaid was attached to the 6th Regiment, Marines, and was in the Chateau-Thierry battle. The 6th Regiment was one of the regiments that stopped the German drive at that historic spot. He was there until July 5th, and he is sure the Boche would have gone on toward Paris had not the Marines stopped them at that point. On July 5th he was taken out for a few days rest and was billeted at a little town on the Marne River; from there he went into the trenches again at a point close to Soissons, over the top again on July 19th, and through the town of Vierzy, which up to that time had been held by the Germans. From here a rush order made these Marines entrain and they were rushed to a point just opposite Metz, where after all, they were not used, but were instead sent on to a point close to St. Mihiel. Here they fought again for Chalons, where they were with the French on the Champagne front in the stiff fighting which lasted ten days. Later they were used in the big final battle on the Verdun front, where, after going through all that he, Elmer Kincaid, was wounded and taken to the Base Hospital No. 3, A. E. F.

In Memorian

Valiant soldiers and sailors have gone from their homes in Menard County and have entered the Great War with hopes high, to have them blasted and the hearts of their loved ones crushed by death.

To the homes in Menard County thus bowed under the weight of sorrow, this is the message of hope and comfort that has been written for them:

"Out of the clouds of grief brought about by the touch of the angel of death comes the knowledge that without such sacrifices this war was not to be won by the forces of right. Written into the glorious histories of the world's great war will be the stories of the valiant dead whose deeds of bravery and heroism have made glorious the victories of that war for righteousness."

That is the consoling message to soften the bleeding hearts of the mothers and the wives; that is the consciousness of duty well done, a debt to home and country paid in full, and to all the allied nations who crowned them with the laurels of a fight well done, a victory gloriously won.

This is the splendid tribute paid to the memory of honored dead—a tribute not due to any other body of men.

Flags have been at half mast.—Death has demanded these loved ones from within our borders. We shall always remember that the homes of these honored ones will continue to be desolate throughout the years to come.

IN MEMORIAM

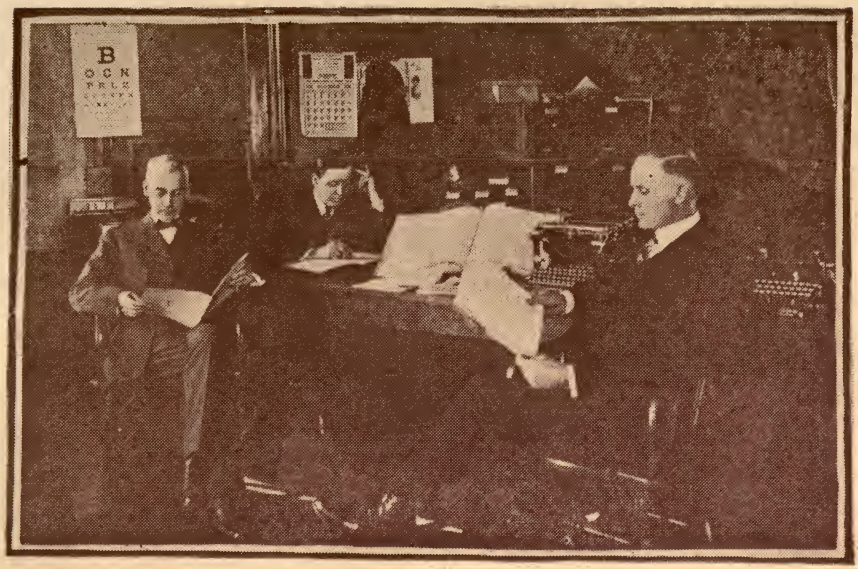
Isaac Woodell

Mrs. Isaac Woodell, Gold Star Mother of John Fullerton Woodell.



John M. Smoot, Chairman of the Local Exemption Board of Menard County, Illinois, born in Menard County on May 14, 1860. He is a son of William C. and Catherine Smoot, pioneer residents of Menard County, both of whom departed this life in 1905. John M. Smoot graduated from Eureka College in the spring of 1882, was married in December of the same year to Minnie F. Brooks of McLean County, Illinois. Three children were born, namely, Mabel I. Laning, Katie E. DuQuoin and Harold L. Smoot, all surviving and all residents of Petersburg.

After his graduation he read law in the office of the Hon. N. W. Branson, now deceased, and was admitted to the bar in 1885, removing almost immediately to Kansas, where he practiced his profession for some eight years, returning to Illinois in 1895. He has been engaged in the practice of his profession at Petersburg since his return.

He was State's Attorney of Menard County for two successive terms, being elected in 1896, and re-elected in 1900. He was a director of the First National Bank of Petersburg for ten years, voluntarily retiring from the directorate at the beginning of 1919.

John M. Smoot belongs to the Christian Church and is a teacher of the men's class in its Sunday School. He is a Democrat in politics, believes the English language sufficiently virile and expressive to enable any good American to express his opinions or desires, and thinks there is room in the United States for but one flag, and that "Old Glory."

Speaking as well for the other members of the Local Board as for himself, he desires to express the board's admiration for the splendid eager patriotism of our boys to enter the military and naval service of our country in the mightiest and most sanguinary conflict in all history, a war which we entered to procure a permanent peace and to "make right the law of the world."

Christian C. Juhl, Secretary of the Local Board of Menard County, rendering his services gratuitously to his Government during the war with Germany, was born July 17, 1867, in Lengetwed, North Schleswig, a part of Denmark, which was torn from the mother country after the war of 1864 in the characteristic fashion of the Central Powers at the very beginning of Germany's conquest for world domination.

He was the youngest son of H. C. M. and Marie Juhl. Was reared on the farm; attended the public schools in Denmark in which was taught both Danish and German. Being dissatisfied with the imperialistic form of government, and of democratic convictions, decided to go to America, arriving in Menard County in April, 1883, at the age of 15. Devoted his time to farming, removing to Nebraska in the Fall of 1887. He was naturalized at Lexington, Nebraska, February 4, 1889.

He entered as a student of the Omaha Business College in March, 1889, graduating from that institution with the Class of 1890, July 16th. After graduation he was offered a position as assistant instructor of that college, which he declined, prefering to get into active business, acccpting a position of bookkeeper in a general store. After two years of this service he entered, at Omaha, the employ of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York. After eleven months of this service was promoted to assistant superintendent, serving as such for two years, and promoted again to superintendent and general manager for Des Moines, Iowa, and subsequently at LaFayette, Ind., Columbus, Ind., and Mansfield, Ohio. After eight years' continuous service he resigned in June, 1901, on account of ill health, to go back to the farm.

He was married to Miss Hattie Watkins of Petersburg, Ill., May 17, 1899. One child was born, a daughter, Mildred, now a student at Ward Belmont.

Mr. Juhl is a Republican in politics and first, last, and all the time an American. In speaking of his experience with the Local Board he desires to say that in the conduct of its business it has repeatedly merited the commendation of the District Board at Springfield, due largely to the patriotism and willing submission to our young men to serve their Government. Credit must also be given to the staunch support of those who remained at home, evidenced by the fact that every drive for the Red Cross or the United War Work was carried over the top in record time, unsurpassed by any county in the State—an enviable distinction to acquire in the gigantic struggle for world democracy.

Dr. H. P. Moulton, medical member of the Local Board of Menard County, was born on a farm near Maquoketa, Jackson County, Iowa, December 7, 1873, son of Thos. J. and Lovina (Coleman) Moulton, former a native of New York, the latter of Ontario.

Dr. Moulton acquired his preliminary education in the public schools of Jackson County, Iowa, graduated from the Maquoketa High School, entering the University of Iowa as a student in the medical department for two years. Entering the Chicago Homeopathic Medical College, from which institution he was graduated with the class of 1899, and following the completion of his course there, he came to Petersburg, where he located for practice.

On March 18, 1902, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Catherine Kriegh, daughter of E. M. and Helen (Pyatt) Kriegh of Springfield. There are two children. Helen, age 13, and Horace, age 10.

Dr. Moulton was coroner of Menard County from 1912 to 1916, and is Vice President of the Central Illinois Homeopathic Medical Society as well as a member of the School Board, and a director of the Old Salem Chautauqua Association.

Together with the other very efficient members of the Local Board he has carried out his duties and desires to say that it was a fine bunch of boys that came before the Board, and it was with pleasure that he learned to know so many Menard County people whom otherwise he would perhaps never have known.

The Local Board wishes to express their deep appreciation of the assistance given by Drs. Epling, Newcomer and Scott, who proved at all times ready and willing to render their services.
